Tricolor Holdings and its affiliates ("we," "our," or "the Company") may offer financial incentives to customers who voluntarily provide certain personal information. This notice explains those financial incentives, including material terms, how to opt in, and your right to withdraw.

Summary of Financial Incentive

From time to time, we may offer you discounts, special pricing, promotions, or other benefits in exchange for voluntarily sharing your personal information with us. For example, customers may receive:

- A one-time coupon or percentage discount;
- Access to referral rewards or loyalty programs;

These offerings are available only to customers who choose to participate and provide specific categories of personal information as described below.

We do not collect sensitive personal information for purposes of financial incentives unless clearly specified.

Withdrawal will not affect your eligibility for future offers unless personal information is required to participate.

Valuation of Consumer Data

Under the CCPA, we are required to explain how the value of the financial incentive is reasonably related to the value of the consumer’s data. We make this determination by considering:

- The expenses related to the offer (e.g., cost of providing discounts, rewards);
- Revenue generated from the collected data (e.g., marketing conversion rates);
- The time, effort, and benefit gained from collecting and using the data.

Estimated value of data: Based on our internal analysis, we estimate the value of consumer personal information used in our incentive programs to be between $0.50 and $25.00 per consumer per year, depending on engagement level and promotional terms.

Right to Non-Discrimination

We will not discriminate against you for exercising your CCPA rights. However, if you choose not to provide personal information required for a financial incentive, you may not be eligible to receive that incentive.
